

Transcript: RAPID in practice

The most common order for utilizing this framework is Recommend, Input, Agree, Decide and Perform. The 'R' kicks off the process and assembles the team. They will then gather input from the 'I', build the recommendation and present it to the 'A'. After this, the recommendation is presented to the 'D' who makes the decision. Once the decision is made, the 'D' communicates it to the 'P', who then leads the implementation.